Welcome to the second edition of the 2020 magazine set which also marks 150 issues in total – a big anniversary! Lockdown is starting to ease here, so there should be scope for some modest celebrations...

In our last edition, we announced that the 2020 ICCF Congress in Glasgow had been cancelled due to Coronavirus. Online voting on proposals will take place instead this year, and one of these proposals offers to host the 2021 Congress in Glasgow!

I've analysed the third ICCF rating list of 2020, with the assistance of Alistair Maxwell, who is happy to take over the job from now on. In the course of doing the work, I discovered that Mike Dyer of Glasgow had died in 2019, and there's an obit in our Notices pages.

We held our AGM in May. Kevin Paine stood down from Membership Secretary due to taking up a Professorship at Bath University. Kevin remains on committee, and Iain Sneddon takes over the Membership role. We also welcome Mickey Blake to committee this year. Gordon Anderson and Alan Hind did their usual accomplished job on our accounts. Full details are enclosed.

To celebrate our 150th edition, I've plagiarised some material from our 50th and 100th issues. Both magazines were lively and there are many weel-kent names from SCCA history to entertain you (and get you nostalgic).

Peter Bennett continues his account of how he manages his huge games load - instructive reading this! Peter shares column space with portrait painter Sir Henry Raeburn, who made his own mark in Edinburgh 200+ years ago.

We welcome back John Hawkes, now fully recovered, with an account of Bird's Defence. John also sourced a lot of the illustrations in our Chess Art feature on Bill Jacklin which follows his own article.

Alastair Dawson features a couple of strong games from SIM Andrey Kochemasov of Russia, who won the ICCF WC30 Final, scoring two wins and achieving a GM norm.

No room for an International Report or an ICCF Page in this issue, but I expect they'll re-appear next time. Meanwhile, I trust you all manage to stay safe and well as we slowly make our various ways back to normality.

SCCA Membership

Annual: £10/year buys you entry to all SCCA domestic events and friendly international matches, plus 4 quarterly e-magazines.

Life: £100 gets you annual membership for the rest of your days (plus a year's worth of printed magazines to try out).

Patron: £125 (+ any further donation you care to make) gets you life membership and your name on something commemorative.

SCCA 100 Club

The 100 Club has been and continues to be an important revenue-earner for our Association, with many long-standing subscribers.

However, in recent years we have lost a number of subscribers through death and replacing them has been a challenge that, as yet, we have been unable to fully meet.

Could you help us address our challenge by agreeing to take one, two, three or more units each month?

Responsibility for the 100 Club rests with our Treasurer, Gordon Anderson. Units cost £1 with some members taking one unit while others take as many as 10 units per month. From the Association's perspective paying by Bankers Order is most convenient.

If you don't already subscribe to the 100 club please consider if you can help the SCCA by making contact with Gordon to sign up for some units (contact details below).

Michael T Dyer RIP

Alistair Masxwell writes: Mike Dyer passed away on the 8th September 2019 after a 2 year battle with cancer.

Mike was a genuinely nice man, very well liked in both Scottish OTB and CC communities. He played for Cathcart and Bearsden in the Glasgow Leagues and participated in SCCA domestic and international events.

Mike was also a staunch trade union activist and member of the Labour Party. Alistair recalls one CC anecdote: Mike was playing a game with Ian Reeman in a tournament where I was TD and the scorecard had been going back and forward quite happily until I got the card with a covering letter, asking me what they should do now. My recollection is that when I played through the game the White king had gone from f2-c5 via e3 and d4, except that it wasn't legal for it to go through d4 at the point that it had done...! Game agreed drawn!

Iain Mackintosh writes: Mike re-appeared in our Grading List in 2011 after a long absence, and you may have noticed him in our list of highest graded players recently. When I received Alistair's news, I contacted ICCF to ask why Mike's account was still active after September 2019.

It transpired that another Michael T Dyer based in Hertfordshire had started to play CC in 2009, and the TO of his first event had used the inactive account of his Glasgow namesake! My thanks to John Rhodes, the Hertfordshire TC and Austin Lockwood, ICCF Services Director, for helping to investigate. We'll now create separate accounts for both players, and (sadly) retire Mike from our Grading List.

ICCF 40th WCCC Candidates Tournament

Gian-Maria Tani, ICCF Title Tournaments Commissioner, writes to announce the Candidates stage of the 40th World Championship which will start on 20th September. The following players are eligible:

- a. All entries will be accepted according to ICCF Tournament Rules valid as from January 1, 2020, to be received not later than August 2, 2020. Rating numbers

- b. Candidates Tournament sections normally have 13 players with the possibility for the TTC to extend them to 15 or 17 players if appropriate in special situations.
- c. Normally, no more than four Candidates Tournament sections are started each year with 1st and 2nd qualifying for a Final. However additional sections may be started at the discretion of the TTC. In this situation, the number of qualifiers for the Final may be reduced from two to one.
- d. If the number of the entries isn't a multiple of 13, 15 or 17, sections will be filled with the players who ask to enter the Candidates Tournament according Rule 1.2.1.3.3; if it's again impossible to fill a section, the players who have been entered according to Rule 1.2.1.3.1.(h) and who have the lowest ICCF ELO rating won't be admitted to the 2020 Candidates' Tournament.
- e. Entries have to be sent through the "New events" page of www.iccf.com. The entry fee can be paid via Direct Entry or via the player's National Federation. Entries of "reserve players" must be sent by e-mail to the TTC via the player's National Federation. It is mandatory that the qualification right under Tournament Rules 1.2.1.3.1 should be specified for each entry.

Registration completes on 5th August, so please contact Gordon Anderson before 29th July, if you meet the entry criteria, to register your interest.

ICCF 23rd World Cup

ICCF General Secretary, Michael Millstone has written to announce the launch of the 23rd World Cup. The tournament will be in 3 stages, with the Preliminaries commencing on 30th September 2020.

Each group will consist of 7-11 players. The event will be played by webserver with the pace 40 days per 10 moves (45 days leave per year, no special leave).

Linear conditionals can be entered. Each player plays one game with every player of his group simultaneously. Allocation of players to the Preliminary sections will be made as random as possible; however geographical distribution as well as an achievement of reasonable equality of the average rating will be taken into account.

All players are eligible to enter. Players must register in the usual way through ICCF registration system (select "Register by Direct Entry" or "Register via National Federation").

Tournament fees by Direct Entry will be €14.04 Euros and through SCCA £9. Multiple entries are allowed up to the number of preliminary sections. The closing date for registration is September 1st.

All Preliminary groups will finish on 1st May 2022. The Semi-final round will be started on 31st October 2022.

Sweden v Rest of Europe Match

The Europa Zonal Director writes to announce that a friendly match has been organised between Sweden and the Rest of Europe.

1. The match will be played on the ICCF webserver, ICCF Playing Rules will apply. Time control is 10 moves in 50 days with duplication after 20 days.
2. Number of boards is expected 50 to 60.
3. Any Zone 1 (Europa) National Federation (except for Sweden) may nominate up to 3 players for the Rest of Europe Team.
4. Each player will play two games (one with White, one with Black) against her/his opponent on her/his board.
5. Start date is 30 September 2020.
6. Order of boards will be set in accordance with ICCF ratings being taken from up-to-date rating list (i.e. 2020/3).

Scottish players wishing to be considered for selection should contact Gordon Anderson as soon as possible but no later than 15 August 2020.

Fernschach 2020 CC Database

Herbert Bellmann writes to advise that Fernschach 2020 offers a CC games database in addition to ICCF and commercial products. In summary:

- Database available annually since 2000
- Nearly 1,450,000 games (from 1991)
- Over 100,000 new games since 2019
- Approximately 9,500 annotated (400 new)
- German letters ä, ö, ü and ß are not counted in names

- Games from all main chess servers + post + email All tournaments marked correspondence so that CC games can be recognised in a larger database

The price is €13 (shipping within Germany) and €15 (shipping elsewhere).

ICCF Updates

June updates to the Games Archive have now been added, and may be downloaded by logging into: <https://www.iccf.com/> then selecting Games Archive from the menu.

In the 10th ETC Final, three games are still holding up its conclusion, so no word yet of a start date for the 11th ETC Final.

2020/3 Grading List

By Iain Mackintosh

The third ICCF grading list of 2020 is published and new grades are based on 3 months' results reported between 1 March 2020 and 31 May 2020. The grades will apply to internationally graded games starting between 1 July and 31 September 2020.

We had one new addition (Allan Buchan), and one deletion (Mike Dyer deceased – refer Notices page) in this list. Three players gained norms in the last grading period – Iain Sneddon (CCM), Raymond Burrige (2xCCE) and David Cumming (IM) – congratulations to them!

There were four upwards movements in grading bands – Geoff Lloyd is now 2300+; Allan Buchan entered the list at 2000+; and John Dunn progressed to 1500+. Well done to all!

More new games centurions featured – Raymond Burrige surpassed 1500+; Martin Hardwick reached 1400+; and Iain Sneddon is now 300+. Highest recorded games during this quarter were Martin Hardwick (101!), Raymond Burrige (56); David Cumming (55); Carlos Almarza Mato (47); Allan Buchan (41); and Iain Sneddon (37).

You need to complete 12 ICCF-eligible games to obtain a provisional rating (* below). Provisional ratings apply until 30 games have been processed. Rating changes are denoted by arrows. Email grader@scottishcca.co.uk if you have any queries.

AGM 2020

By Iain Mackintosh

Meeting:	The 43 rd AGM of the Scottish Correspondence Chess Association.
Venue:	Sunday 24 th May, 2020, 4pm by Skype.
Present:	Iain Mackintosh (Chair), Gordon Anderson, Mickey Blake, Alan Borwell, Kevin Paine, Iain Sneddon, Ian Whittaker (all Skype)
Apologies:	None,

Minutes of the 42nd AGM

On the proposal of Iain Sneddon, seconded by Alan Borwell, the minute of the meeting held on 26th May 2019 was accepted as an accurate record and approved.

Matters arising from the 42nd AGM

None.

President's Remarks

Iain Mackintosh reviewed the preceding year which had sadly featured one obituary – Derek Coope.

The major story of the year concerned our bid to host the 2020 ICCF Congress in Glasgow during August. After being let down by the Glasgow Hilton Hotel, we obtained premises at the Golden Jubilee Hotel in Clydebank only to see our preparations founder under the Coronavirus restrictions. Gordon Anderson deserves a big vote of thanks for his work in getting us so close.

On the playing front, it was another busy year for the SCCA. Domestic events all ran on schedule and results are summarised below. Internationally, we gained excellent results in the European Team and Olympiad events, and were widely represented in individual and team competitions.

Our website was regularly updated with new content. Our Facebook page continues to service a worldwide following. The online magazine was produced on schedule each quarter; while subscribers to the 2019 printed magazine remained steady.

As usual, the SCCA has been indebted to its hard-working committee members and tournament directors, all of whom deserve grateful thanks for their efforts and commitment.

Secretary's Report

Kevin Paine reported that 2020 membership was 21 Annual and 77 Life/Patron members.

Kevin also summarised new title- and norm-holders:

CCM Titles: Gordon Anderson, Geoff Lloyd; CCM Norms: Colin Beveridge, Kevin Paine, Iain Sneddon.

CCE Titles: Colin Beveridge, Iain Sneddon; CCE Norms: Raymond Burrige.

Kevin reported that the 2019-20 Championship was won by Iain Mackintosh. The 2019 Premier was a 3-way tie between Jim Anderson, Ian Whittaker and Carlos Almarza Mato. Andrew Macmillen won the 2019 Open. Colin Beveridge triumphed in the 2019 Challengers.

The Webserver League featured 4 divisions for the first time: In 1, Hounds of the Scheming Mind A prevailed; in 2, Hounds of the Scheming Mind C won out; in 3, White Rose B finished on top; and in 4, BCCA Amethysts bested the rest.

The 7th Annual Best Game Prize was adjudicated by GM Daði Örn Jónsson and won by Iain Mackintosh.

Treasurer's Report

Gordon reported that Alan Hind had completed his audit (mostly done by post) and had once again kindly donated his fee. . Income in the 12 month period was £1,561 (2019-£1,899), with membership subscriptions down significantly from £296 (2019) to £133. Expenditure decreased to £1,696 (2019-£3,947), with no outlay on the George Pyrich Memorial this year, and lower domestic trophy expenses. Some outgoings were made in organising the now cancelled Glasgow ICCF Congress, but these were less than previous Congress attendances. We are now using bank transfers to pay 100 Club prizes, though some members still prefer cheques.

No provision has been made in this year's accounts for the cost of trophies for section winners in the George Pyrich Memorial. More than 14 quichs may be required if ties cannot be broken; we estimate that costs will exceed £1,000, plus P&P. The outcome for the year was a deficit of £134 (2019-Deficit -£2,048). Total assets reduced at the year end to £8,891 (2019-£9,025).

Iain Mackintosh proposed a vote of thanks to Gordon and Alan Hind which was unanimously agreed. Gordon moved adoption of the audited accounts, seconded by Kevin Paine and unanimously agreed.

International Secretary's Report

Gordon reported on excellent performances by our teams in the 11th ETC semi-finals (where we finished 3rd and qualified for the final) and 21st Olympiad prelims (where we also finished 3rd, but didn't qualify for the final). The ETC Final is likely to start in September 2020.

Our performances in In the British Tri-Nations 2017, the Esko Nuutilainen Memorial Team Tournament, the North Atlantic Team Tournament VII, and the 3rd North Sea Team Tournament didn't improve during the year. Current Friendly matches are against Panama, Sweden, Cuba, Netherlands and England (<1800) are currently in progress. No new matches are scheduled at present. Entries to ICCF events by Scottish players during 2019 were 77 (22 players). A further 26 entries (17 players) have been received in 2020 so far. We have also provided players to NF Invitational events (including Richard Beecham, currently in 1st place in the Max Zavanelli Lithuania B event). The 2020 ICCF Congress will be a virtual affair due to the Coronavirus restrictions. Delegates will vote online on proposals during July.

Iain Mackintosh proposed a vote of thanks to Gordon which was unanimously agreed. Kevin Paine moved adoption of Gordon's report, seconded by Iain Sneddon and unanimously agreed.

Election of Office Bearers

The following office-bearers were elected to office for 2020-21.

Office	Name	Proposer	Seconder
President	Iain Mackintosh	Alan Borwell	Ian Whittaker
Vice President¹
International Secretary	Gordon Anderson	Iain Mackintosh	Alan Borwell
Secretary²
Membership Officer	Iain Sneddon	Alan Borwell	Gordon Anderson
Treasurer	Gordon Anderson	Kevin Paine	Alan Borwell
Committee Members	Alan Borwell Mickey Blake Kevin Paine	Gordon Anderson Iain Mackintosh Gordon Anderson	Iain Sneddon Gordon Anderson Alan Borwell

² No nomination received. We will look at consolidating secretarial and membership functions during the year.

Appointment of Auditor

Alan Hind was proposed by Gordon Anderson, seconded by Iain Sneddon, and duly reappointed.

Subscriptions

Gordon Anderson proposed no change to domestic membership fees for 2020-21. This was seconded by Iain Sneddon and unanimously agreed.

AOB

The Edinburgh CC Bicentenary takes place in November 2022, and the club hopes to reproduce the famous Edinburgh-London postal match in the lead-up. SCCA is happy to provide support, but decisions are required re playing format. (Action: AB, IW)

Video-conferencing was proposed as a better medium than Skype voice calls. Coincidentally, the AGM was mostly conducted by video (presumably Skype reacting to Zoom's popularity during the Coronavirus lockdown). Other options are also available, but the president needs to upgrade his antiquated IT set-up first. (Action: IM)

A vote of thanks to the chair was proposed by Gordon Anderson and unanimously agreed.

By Stephen Riley

Maze (n): a confusing network of paths or passageways.

Although everyone is familiar with mazes, there is one form of the classic puzzle that, despite having teased mathematicians for centuries, remains unknown to most people – The Knight’s Tour.

Using standard legal knight moves, touch every square of the board once only. You should therefore touch 64 squares in 64 moves.

I’ve combined a sample Knight’s Tour with a hidden message. Starting at d1 (the letter is “D”), trace the 64-square message, inserting spaces where appropriate. The answer is a message from someone you probably make unhappy!

Bird’s Opening [A02]

[Notes by Ian Marks]

1.f4

Batsford’s will probably never publish a book called ‘The Complete Bird’: not a big enough GM database, not a big enough potential readership to make it worthwhile.

Because an opening is rarely played, there’s a tendency to think it’s bad, Wrong. Not bad, just different. Too many games are lost through trying too hard to beat a “bad” opening.

1... g6?!

Nothing wrong with this of course but, since most g6 systems are designed to chip away at a broad White centre, and White has so far avoided e4 or d4, I can’t help feeling (now!) that the move loses some of its point. Suffice to say that I know what I’ll be playing next time I face 1.f4 and it ain’t 1... g6. (Prospective opponents wishing to find out more b6?!

This is going too far. In his book ‘50 Czech GM Brilliances’, GM Filip, writing about the King’s Indian, says: “for a long time I tried various sidelines, but to no avail. In the course of the years I finally realised that, to achieve success, you shouldn’t avoid the so-called principal continuations”. Words of wisdom indeed. His comments apply equally well here. 3... d5 and 3... Nf6 are both much more sensible and apposite.

Incidentally, this is a super little collection, but isn’t too well known. It appeared in German in 1983 and, as far as I know, has never been translated into English. A pity, but that just makes it all the more special to those of us lucky enough to own a copy. Filip puts a lot of honesty and humour into his writing and gets you I thought about a Hippopotamus: e6/Ne7/Nd7 etc. That worked out

C	S	C	S	R	S	U	O
I	G	N	T	D	E	P	P

You can find the solution at the end of the Bits ‘n’ Pieces article.

involved. I don’t know if he’s published anything else but, if he has, I’d love to get my hands on it. Anybody out there help!?

Now is the time to go into a huddle and decide how best to implement the above reorganisation. 11... a6 looks reasonable, e.g. 11... a6 12.Qe2 b5 13.a4!? Nb4 14.axb5 (Bb1!?) Nxd3 15.Qxd3 axb5 16.Rxa8 Qxa8 looks OK for Black, so try (11... a6) 12.d5 Nb8 (Na5? 13.b4!) and if now 13.a4, 13... b5 is still playable since Qb6+ will pick up the White stray on b5. Nbd7 and rooks to the c-file are also on their way. Instead, I get all thematical with...

From Edition 100 Websaver Open Update

By George Pyrich

[Editor: the SCCA Websaver Open was started in January 2007, and was presided over by George Pyrich. Here's how George previewed the event in edition 97, followed by his update published in edition 100:

GP: As part of ICCF's programme to popularise its new server, each member federation was granted permission to host a domestic event free of charge.

After some consideration, the SCCA Executive Committee decided to organise an "Open" event over 2 stages, Preliminary and Final, with free entry to members and non-members alike and a prize fund of £200.

The organisers were pleased to welcome a number of newcomers several of whom have now become members as well as a number of "old faces" including life member and former Glenrothes resident Dave Dempster (resident in Western Australia for some 20 years and playing under the Australian flag!) and ICCF GM and former SCCA President David Kilgour making a very welcome return after a break of several years.

Eventually 3 sections of 10 players were formed and play began officially on 28th January. After only 2 months a considerable number of results have already been posted (admittedly with some defaults) as some of the players seemed to enjoy playing quickly – indeed, one game has recently been agreed drawn after 63 moves!

Presently all 3 sections are fairly close and some keen competition is in store as the players determine the 3 qualifiers from each Section.]

GP: As the adjudication date of 25 January 2008 approaches, all 3 sections are almost completed and 8 of the 9 final qualifiers are now confirmed.

In section A, newcomer Stuart Graham won with an impressive score of 8/9 closely followed by the experienced duo of Iain Mackintosh and Alan Borwell with 7 and 6½ respectively. One game remains unfinished in this group although it has no bearing on qualifying places.
SCCA Magazine 150

Section B has been very close throughout but newcomer Alan Bell led the field home with an equally impressive 8/9 closely followed by our regular Bulletin contributor Geoff Lloyd on 7. The 3rd qualifying spot is presently held by Alan Brown on 6½ although he can be overtaken on the finishing line by Hugh Calder if he wins his last game against Stuart Graham.

Section C was perhaps the most interesting of the 3 where Grandmaster David Kilgour had to work hard to keep pace with Tom Matheis and share 1st with 8/9. The 3rd qualifying place was taken by promising junior Jonathan McLatchie just ahead on tie-break of the more experienced David Edney when both scored 6½.

It is planned to start the Final of this event in February – given the list of qualifiers, it should be an interesting event!

Games can be viewed live (with 5 move delay) at the ICCF server site www.iccf-webchess.com

[Editor – edition 100 was published in January 2008; the final issue of the 2007 series. By this time, we were publishing both paper and online (pdf) copies, having started dual formats with edition 73 in April 2001.

The late George Pyrich was TD of the Webserver Open and wrote the article reproduced here. He also authored the ICCF Congress report

(from Belmádena in Spain), which included him receiving his ICCF Gold Medal from then President Med Samraoui. As if that wasn't enough, he also contributed his usual International Report!

George was the best of guys and I still miss him a great deal.

Other authors featured in edition 100 were Jim Anderson (Domestic Events), Bernard Milligan (ChessBase Review and Games Column) and Geoff Lloyd (How to See Ahead in Chess).

Although this edition is numbered 150, it's actually the 151st issue we have produced. Back in 2002 we produced a special Silver Jubilee, issue, but didn't number it. You can download it from our website if you have access.]

Managing 48 Games in the 2019/20 Season Part 2: a (slightly comical!) progress report

By Peter Bennett

In the previous article (Part 1) I focussed on the logistical exercise of managing a large number of games, while simultaneously ensuring a steady stream of results. By 31 March, when Part 1 went to press, I had reduced my games to tally to 25.

The positive aspect of those (23) early results is that they included several wins, but no losses. The downside was that these results were the easier ones: my 25 continuing games contained, for example, all the games in which I am defending, with varying degrees of difficulty. At that stage (early April) I had identified four games where there was a risk of losing eventually.

So the next phase of results had to be planned carefully. From April onwards I realised that both winning games and saving games were longer-term projects. Any results that could be generated in the medium-term, say before the end of June (and hence included in this progress report), would be likely to be draws.

This was an accurate forecast: all my “new” results have indeed been draws; but the manner in which I achieved this was not at all as I had expected....

Taking draws by agreement: criticisms of my approach

The SCCA, being small, is like a family. A lot of people know each other quite well and, like siblings, are not too reticent about pointing out each other’s shortcomings. Well, that at least is my experience. Several of my mentors from the upper echelons of the SCCA (and even a senior member of my OTB club who once studied some of my CC games online) have pointed out that I have a tendency to be a bit too trigger-happy with the “offer draw” button. Actually, historically, the charge was entirely justified.

Three particular criticisms were these:

(1) I had a tendency to agree draws too early in the game, especially against lower-graded players. How could I expect to win games, if I didn’t even give my opponent a chance to make the strategic errors which I was perfectly capable of exploiting? Point taken!

(2) I had a tendency to take draws too early in the tournament, where the event had an end-date. For example, VWC sections (both “pr” and “sf”) are usually scheduled to last 21 months. Taking a draw against a lower-graded player more than a year before the adjudication date, (hence less than half-way through the tournament) can give others the impression that you are not really trying. Point taken!

(3) I had a tendency to take five or six draws early in the tournament which often put me at the top of the “leaderboard” (as in golf); whereas all I was really doing was setting myself up as a target for the “real” contenders, who were lurking, menacingly at the bottom of the leaderboard, having registered no results at all in the early stages. In this respect, CC is not like golf. It is more like middle-distance running or horse-racing, where “hitting the front too early” is usually a weak strategy, not a strong one. Point taken!

A single, simple, sensible rule

Having been floored by this barrage of criticism, I picked myself up, dusted myself down (to borrow the lyric from a famous song) and got a sudden, and remarkably straightforward piece of inspiration! I decided to institute the rule: that I would not take any draws against players who had lower gradings than myself more than 12 months ahead of the adjudication date.

The beauty of this simple, sensible rule is that it met all three criticisms, as given above.

Not entirely trusting myself to maintain the discipline involved in implementing this plan, I then wrote to one of my mentors (in a position of authority) and “promised” him that I would carry out the plan to the letter. He seemed quite enthusiastic about it (perhaps with the sub-text: “yes, Peter, that is what you should have been doing all along”).

I relaxed the rule to 13 months in the case of my VWCpr, as these sections tend to resolve much faster than the Semi-Finals. This made the rule simpler to apply, as it brought all three of my veterans’ tournaments into line: draws against lower-graded players could only be taken after 01:06:20, in all three of my VWC events.

So what happened next?

The first thing to report was that I succeeded – ultimately with considerable difficulty – in carrying out my plan.

In fact, I did not agree a draw with any lower-graded VWC opponent, between 03:04:19 and 31:05:20, almost 14 months. Before 01:06:20, my most recent such draw was with the Spanish player, Antonio Jaumandreu, whose grading at the conclusion of our game was 2283, on 02:04:19 in VWC9sf9.

The problem is that a lot of VWC participants now play very quickly. They are looking for draws very early in each event and they are not reticent about making this clear to their opponents. They can even be quite impatient about it. Worst of all, there are many who play for a draw with the White pieces, from the outset, and especially against higher-graded players.

In short, the culture of the VWC is out-of-step with its formal rules.

I have seen VWC sections where 95% of the games are finished within 3 months of the 21-month tournament starting.

So, from mid-February onwards, I was beginning to get tentative enquiries from lower-graded players about a possible draw. As we moved through April, the number of enquiries and direct offers increased rapidly; and I have lost count of the number of times I had to respond: “yes, I do realise that our game is highly likely to end in a draw, eventually, but not before the beginning of June, please!” I sometimes had to explain: “because I have promised the SCCA, etc....”

As a kind of compromise, I began to add: “but you can offer me the draw any time from the first week in May onwards, and I will accept, as long as you understand that my acceptance will not happen until the beginning of June.” A surprising number of players was perfectly happy with this plan – at least the game was thereby “dealt with”, as far as they were concerned.

I had some residual Leave left in all three VWC events, which allowed me to make these arrangements without straying into “double time” territory. By the second week in May, the offers were streaming in. By 31:05:20, I was sitting on 12 of them.

A veritable flurry of results....

Between 00.03 on 1 June, and 00.27 on 2 June – in just 24 hours and 24 minutes – I registered 14 new results. Two were offers I had to make (because my opponents had disqualified themselves under the 10-move draw rule) and

Henry Raeburn

Sir Henry Raeburn FRSE RA RSA (1756-1823) was a Scottish portrait painter, born and based in Edinburgh. Among his best-known works are a portrait of Sir Walter Scott (1822), and The Skating Minister (The Reverend Robert Walker skating on Duddingston Loch, painted in the 1790s). Featured here are his self-portrait (c.1820) and The Games Room: Checkmate (1812).

On the staircase at Arniston House in Midlothian hangs a large double portrait which perfectly captures the intimacy of evening pursuits in a Georgian country house. It is a moment of triumph for Eliza Dundas, on the right, wife of General Francis Dundas, on the left, as she deftly removes her husband’s queen.

the other 12 I had merely to accept. It was a very busy day as, in every case, there was a “thank you for the game” letter, in some cases concluding a fascinating correspondence which had continued for many months.

A further result came two weeks later, making 15 in all, during June. All 15 results were in the VWC, all were draws, and all against lower-graded players.

The effect on my ICCF grading

My current grading is 2370; and is about to climb 12 points to 2382, on 1 July (the 2020/3 list). Have I improved as a CC player? Probably not. The increase is almost entirely due to my refusal to accept draws, as described above.

Within 25 hours of securing the 2382 grading, my “live” grading was back down to 2372, where it still is today (as I write), my 15 new results costing me 10 grading points, without a single loss!

I have often claimed that playing in the VWC at all takes its toll of a player’s grading. Here, surely, is the living proof?!

My continuing games

My 10 continuing games may now sound like an easy workload, but that is not entirely true: all the really difficult games from the whole season are still there and still giving me headaches. The final evaluation of this 48-game season will depend on how they turn out. (to be continued....)

Bird's Defence to the Ruy Lopez

This article is a presentation of the relatively uncharted 1 e4 e5 2 Nf3 Nc6 3 Bb5 Nd4 4.Nxd4 variation.

First, a couple of games by the defence's inventor, against Mackenzie and Marco; then on to Geller against Kholmov in the 1949 Soviet Championship.

Ruy Lopez - Bird Defence [C61]

[Notes by John E Hawkes after Kholmov]

Honza Cervenka, Chessgames.com premium member, gives the setting: the last round of USSR

Championship 1949. Geller was (surprisingly) a sole leader of the tournament being a half point ahead of Smyslov and Bronstein and one point ahead of Taimanov. A draw with white pieces against Kholmov would have secured him title of Champion (at worst shared with Smyslov and/or Bronstein depending on result of their last game) but he was trying to play aggressively to win - and in the end he lost.

Unfortunately for Geller, all three main competitors managed to win their respective games and so finally he shared only the third place with Taimanov behind Smyslov and Bronstein who shared the title.

Bill Jacklin RA

Born in London in 1943, Bill Jacklin studied graphics at Walthamstow School of Art, London (1960-61) before working as a graphic designer at Studio Seven in Holborn (1961-62). In 1962 he returned to Walthamstow to study painting and subsequently went on to the Royal College of Art from 1964 to 1967. Between 1967 and 1975, Jacklin taught at Chelsea School of Art, Hornsey and Royal College of Art and at schools in Kent and Surrey. Initially concerned with abstraction, his work moved to figuration in the mid 1970s, when it became preoccupied with the effects of light and movement.

Jacklin was awarded an Arts Council Bursary in 1975, the year that marked his first two solo exhibitions at the Upper Gallery and at Nigel Greenwood in London. His work continued to be exhibited in one-man shows throughout the seventies in London and later in the eighties in London and New York with Marlborough Fine Art and Marlborough Gallery, respectively. He also participated in numerous group exhibitions internationally from the early seventies.

Moving to New York in 1985, Bill Jacklin has concentrated on painting 'Urban Portraits' of 'the city' in all its guises; from large scale canvases of crowds in flux to intimate moments in Seurat-like etchings. He was elected a Royal Academician in 1991 and in 1993 was Official Artist-in-Residence for the British Council in Hong Kong. Jacklin presently lives and works in New York.

We present here some examples of his work, mostly depicting open air chess scenes in New York. Most are entitled 'Chess Players' or variants thereof.

SIM Andrey Kochemasov is one of the strongest correspondence chess players in the world. In the ICCF WC30/final that started in June 2017 he topped the field with 9/16 - winning by a half point margin over 6 other SIMs and GMs.

In WC Final events, individual wins are like gold dust. For example, this event was a 17 player all-play-all that produced 9 wins and goodness knows how many draws! Andrey was the only player to win twice - and we reproduce his two wins here.

Far be it for us lesser mortals to provide expert commentary on these games! That said, there are themes that one can detect that are familiar to all of us.

One of the games (his game as White) is a classic positional squeeze out of a very well-known opening, the other is one where his opponent tries an often-played sacrifice in another well-known position but then his opponent stumbles in the complexities of the position that ensues.

Enjoy!

White: Zhak, Boris Mikhailovich (2528)

Black: Kochemasov, Andrey Leonidovich (2540)

- | | |
|--------------------|------|
| 1.e4 | c5 |
| 2.Nf3 | Nc6 |
| 3.d4 | cxd4 |
| 4.Nxd4 | Nf6 |
| 5.Nc3 | e5 |
| 6.Ndb5 | d6 |
| 7.Bg5 | a6 |
| 8.Na3 | b5 |
| 9.Bxf6 | gxf6 |
| 10.Nd5 | f5 |
| All normal so far. | |
| 11.c3 | Bg7 |
| 12.Bd3 | Be6 |

13.Nxb5

Quite a common sacrifice in this position. The position is very double-edged, however, with some engines giving advantage to White, others advantage to Black and yet others declaring position as equal.

- | | |
|---------|------|
| 13... | axb5 |
| 14.Bxb5 | Bd7 |
| 15.exf5 | 0-0 |
| 16.a4 | e4 |
| 17.0-0 | Re8 |
| 18.Qg4 | Kh8 |
| 19.Rad1 | Rc8 |

The game is transposing backwards and forwards, but even here this position has been reached over 100 times.

- | | |
|---------|------|
| 20.Rfe1 | Re5 |
| 21.Ne3 | Qf6 |
| 22.Qe2 | Bxf5 |

Here, one begins to sense that Black has strong control over the centre of the board. The bishops look powerful but one of them is soon to be removed.

- | | |
|---------|------|
| 23.Nxf5 | Qxf5 |
| 24.Rxd6 | Nb8 |

White now has three connected queenside pawns for the piece but it is not so easy to co-ordinate their advance. But now White makes a move that effectively loses the game.

25.Rd4

Here Black spots a tactic whereby the exchange is sacrificed back in order to exploit the vulnerability of the rook on d4. Stockfish 11 sees a big advantage for Black instantly. There were other moves here to choose, most notably 25.h3 with an equal game.

- | | |
|---------|------|
| 25... | Rxb5 |
| 26.Qxb5 | Qxb5 |
| 27.axb5 | Bxd4 |
| 28.cxd4 | Nd7 |
| 29.Kf1 | Nf6 |

The rest, as they say, is history. Black can pick off the loose pawns fairly easily and very quickly the extra N on the board begins to tell.

- | | |
|--------|-----|
| 30.Rd1 | Nd5 |
| 31.h3 | Rc4 |
| 32.b6 | Kg7 |
| 33.Re1 | f5 |
| 34.b7 | Rb4 |

And here the game ended.

0-1

White: Kochemasov, Andrey Leonidovich (2540)

Black: Nefedov, Sergey Vladimirovic (2561)

WC30/final ICCF, 2017
King's Indian Classical [E97]
[Notes by Alastair Dawson]

- | | |
|-------|-----|
| 1.d4 | Nf6 |
| 2.c4 | g6 |
| 3.Nc3 | Bg7 |
| 4.e4 | d6 |
| 5.Nf3 | 0-0 |
| 6.Be2 | e5 |
| 7.0-0 | Nc6 |
| 8.d5 | Ne7 |
| 9.b4 | |

Another standard position familiar to all.

- | | |
|-------|-----|
| 9... | Ne8 |
| 10.c5 | f5 |

Here we have the classic counterpunch so frequently played by Kasparov in his prime. White, on the other hand, is pushing hard on the queenside.

11.Nd2 Nf6
 12.a4 g5
 13.Nc4 f4

Here the game takes on more urgency. Black's counter-attack is gathering momentum while White will soon start to exploit weaknesses in the Black queenside.

14.f3 Ng6
 15.cxd6 cxd6
 16.Nb5 Ne8
 17.Kh1 Rf7
 18.Bd2

And still we are in well-known territory. Black places his rook on f7 to assist in both defence and attack. White, in the meantime, is piling up pressure on d6 with the two Ns.

18... Bf8
 19.Be1 Bd7
 20.Na5 Qb8
 21.Rc1 Rg7
 22.Bf2 Kh8
 23.Qb3

So now we have reached a position that Kochemasov must have assessed a long time before. Black's counter-attack has slowed down somewhat. On the other hand White is making good use of his space advantage.

23... a6
 24.Nc3
 And with ..a6 the Black queenside is weakened further.
 24... Nf6

SCCA Magazine 150

25.Nc4 g4
 26.fxg4 Nxg4

In trying to assess what it is that is wrong with the Black position, one might argue that, at present, the Ra8 is playing no part in the game.

Secondly, the Qb8 and the Bf8 are both tied down to the defence of the d6 pawn.

27.Nb6 Nxf2+
 28.Rxf2 Qa7

29.a6
 Black is having to make all sorts of odd moves to disentangle his position, for example the Q has now had to go to a7 in order to free the R on a8.

29... Be7
 30.Nd1 Rd8
 31.Rc7 Bg5
 32.Qc3 Qb8

33.Bf3
 Looking at the position again, Black still has not been able to progress his attack beyond the 4th rank.

33... Bb5
 34.Rxg7 Kxg7
 35.Rc2 Rf8

36.Bg4
 White is starting to take control of the White squares while Black's white-squared bishop on b5 is a passive player unable to do much.

36... Qd8
 37.Qc8 Qe7
 38.Qe6 Qxe6
 39.Bxe6 Bd8
 40.Kg1 Bd3
 41.Rd2 Bxe4
 42.Nc3

One theme of these sorts of positions that arise in the King's Indian is the chronic weakness of the d6 pawn.

Kochemasov takes advantage of this beautifully in a controlled display of minor piece play.

42... Bf5
 43.Bxf5 Rxf5
 44.Ne4 Rf7
 45.Nc4

And now, with the white-squared bishops exchanged, the white Ns come into their own and dominate the centre of the board and again pile pressure on d6.

45... Rd7
 46.Nxd6 b6
 47.Nc4 Rc7
 48.Nxb6 Rc1+
 49.Kf2 Rb1
 50.Nc5 Kf7
 51.d6 Rxb4
 52.Nxa6 Rb5
 53.Nc4 e4
 54.Rd1 Nh4
 55.g3 fxg3+
 56.hxg3 Nf3
 57.Rh1 h5
 58.Nc7

And here Black resigned with the pressure of defending the pawn on h5 while simultaneously preventing the advance of the d- and a-pawns, as well as coping with the 2 marauding white Ns proving too much too handle.

1-0
