SCOTTISH C.C.A. MAGAZINE No. 36

EDITORIAL

(by Alan Borwell)

June 1991

As announced in our December 1990 edition, this is the first to be published in 1991, but it will be followed by further issues in mid-September and December. In my circular letter to members in March, I intimated my retirement from full-time employment on 31st May 1991 and I have now enjoyed the first two weeks of leisure! Actually, most of this time has been used in the preparation of the ICCF accounts and this magazine (apart from a couple of cold days at Headingley).

I am pleased to advise that it is our intention to produce the Magazine quarterly in future and also to try to make it even more interesting. An Editorial Board will be formed to help Moira, Ian Mitchell and myself to produce future magazines.

This year's ICCF Congress in Järvenpää, Finland will be held from 20th to 27th July and will include elections to the Presidium for the next four years. I will be attending as ICCF Treasurer and representing Scotland in the important matters to be considered. A full report on the meeting will be featured in our September Magazine.

SECRETARIAL NOTES (by Alan Hind)

The AGM is over for another year and the hard work is just beginning. We say thanks to Alan Shaw who has stepped down from the Executive after another period of service. On the brighter side, we welcome Ian Mitchell back to the Executive as Assistant Editor of the Magazine. It's always good to get new people and ideas and I'm sure Ian will be a great asset.

1991/92 is likely to be a big year but, to expand, we need members to volunteer to help by publicising the Scottish CCA, even if it's just getting a couple of friends interested! So come on - help us get bigger and better!

The new season will begin towards the end of this year with entry forms being enclosed with the September edition of the Magazine. We hope that we will have bumper entries to all events, so please do your best to play and also to persuade other chess players to participate.

SCOTTISH CORRESPONDENCE CHESS ASSOCIATION

Minutes of the Annual General Meeting held in Chess Suppliers (Scotland) Ltd., 15 Hope Street, Glasgow on Sunday 2nd June 1991 at 4.00 pm.

Present: AP Borwell (President), PM Julian, J Herries, A Hind, DM Livie, GWG Livie, CA Macgregor, IWS Mitchell, RS Montgomery, GD Pyrich and AJ Shaw.

Apologies: MT Dyer.

The President welcomed everyone and thanked them for attending.

The Minutes of last Annual General Meeting held on 10th June 1990, which were published in Magazine No. 34, were approved.

Secretary's Report

The Secretary's Report made the following points:

- Membership had held static over the last year. This was relatively good considering the postal increases. However, given that the appeal for Controllers had been highly successful, we needed to have a membership drive. Volunteers had been sought and material was being prepared to be available prior to the start of the 1991/92 season.
- The third Open Tournament had a disappointing response. The reasons for this needed to be investigated.
- The Magazine continued to be produced to a very high standard. Proposals would be put to the meeting later to formalise the Editorial Board.
- It had been decided to introduce medals for all section winners of domestic tournaments and this had been favourably received.

- The SCCA had started a new International Individual Tournament, under ICCF auspices, with three sections (including a very strong Ladies section). Friendly internationals were starting over the next few months against Poland, Algeria, New Zealand, Luxembourg, Portugal and Iceland. These were being ably organised by our new Assistant International Secretary, Colin Macgregor.
- Finance was healthy as would be reported fully by the Treasurer. As all would be aware, we would suffer in line with the SCA with the withdrawal of the SED grant.
- Under AOB, amendments to the Constitution would be proposed. The Constitution would be reissued to all members with the December Magazine.

Treasurer's Report

The Treasurer circulated copies of the audited accounts for the year ended 31st March 1991 (see pages 8 to 11.)

General comments were made on comparatives and there were a few presentational improvements suggested to the draft which was circulated at the meeting. The only item not provided for was the prize fund for the latest International event mentioned in the Secretary's Report.

The accounts were accepted unanimously and a vote of appreciation was made to George Pyrich for the work he had carried out to produce the accounts so promptly.

Election of Office-Bearers

The following Constitutional amendments to the structure of the Executive were proposed and unanimously agreed:

1. The position of Assistant Publicity and Membership Officer be discontinued. (It had been vacant from inception).

2. The position of Editor of the SCCA Magazine (or where the Editor was already an Executive member, the position of Assistant Editor) to be created as an Executive position.

The net effect of the changes would leave the size of the Executive unchanged.

The following were elected to the Executive Committee:

President	AP Borwell
Vice President	GWG Livie
Secretary	A Hind
Treasurer	GD Pyrich
Assistant Secretary	DM Livie
International Secretary	PM Giulian
Assistant International Secretary	CA Macgregor
Grading Officer	MT Dyer
Assistant Editor	IWS Mitchell

The post of Publicity and Membership Officer was unfilled and the AGM gave the Secretary authority to co-opt a suitable individual if he/she could be found during the year.

The formation of an Editorial Group was ratified.

Election of Auditor

It was agreed that the present Auditor, Mr. Hamish Bell, be re-elected for the ensuing year.

Subscriptions

It was proposed that there be no increase in the fee levels. This means that 1991/92 subscriptions would be as follows:

Full Membership (including Magazine)	£ 8
Life Membership (excluding Magazine)	£50
Championship/Candidates entry fee	£ 5
Friendly Internationals	£ 2
All other tournaments	£ 3
League Player with Magazine	£ 7
League Player without Magazine	£ 2

Any Other Business

Several amendments to the SCCA Constitution were proposed and, after debate, the following were agreed:

1. To be eligible to be Scottish Champion, an individual must be:
 - Scottish by birth or parentage, or
 - resident in Scotland for three full consecutive years to the end of the event, or
 - a full member of the SCCA for three full consecutive years to the end of the event.
2. To be eligible to represent Scotland by nomination in ICCF individual or team events, a member must be:
 - Scottish by birth or by parentage, or
 - resident in Scotland for a consecutive period to be defined at the discretion of the Executive.
3. A subordinate category of membership would be created called "Associate". Such members would have no voting rights or eligibility for office but would not pay any membership fee. League team members (who pay a tournament entry fee) and "100 Club" participants who are not Full Members would be included in this classification.
4. Controllers would be officially titled:

Controller - for the first two years' participation in controlling an SCCA tournament.

Senior Controller - if in post longer than two years and recommended by the Executive.

Principal Controller - as recommended by the Executive.

HANDICAP TOURNAMENT (by Allan Hislop)

A further three players have entered the Handicap since the start of the season. They are P. McCrea (H/cap No. 220), J. Lange (221) and Dr. Brown (222).

The following additional pairings should be added to those published in the last issue: 220 v 193 and 221; 221 v 193 and 220. Dr. Brown, our latest entrant, is still awaiting three opponents but I am hopeful that I will have arranged pairings by the time the June Magazine is published.

Handicap players please note that in the rules they can challenge any player via the Controller. In practice, this means contacting me on the telephone when I can give the address of an opponent and the challenger takes it up from there. If a player would like more games, then he should write to the Controller who will organise the whole thing. Pairings will be quicker if players apply for more games as otherwise there may be a delay.

Results received for the season 1990/91 are as follows:

RATING LISTS

The new SCCA list has almost been completed and can be obtained by sending a large stamped addressed envelope to Michael Dyer, 448 St, Vincent Street, Glasgow G3 8EU. The complete SCCA list and the new ICCF ratings for all Scottish and leading international players will be included in the September magazine.

NEW BOOKS

by Alan Borwell

Secrets of Chess Training
by Mark Dvoretsky.
Figurine notation, paperback £12.95

In his foreword, Gary Kasparov extols the virtues of the analytical method of studying chess over those of the chess pragmatist. He supports the approach to chess teaching as described by the Soviet Union's most highly regarded chess trainer.

The book is well structured, with instructive sections on the analysis of adjourned positions, the endgame and selected Studies. There are various exercises contained within the text and answers provided at the end of the book.

This scientific approach to the game contrasts with the flair and artistry displayed by a Tal or even a Basman! Maybe the latter type of player rarely needed to analyse an adjourned position!

Recommended particularly for serious students of the game but also useful for any class of player.

Boris Spassky Master of Tactics
by Bernard Cafferty
English notation, paperback £14.95
4th Edition reprint

This book contains over 100 very fully annotated games played during the period 1949 to 1972. Leonard Barden provides a very informative foreword about one of the most colourful World Champions. His opening repertoire included Kings Gambits, with the classic 1960 game against Bronstein being used in the James Bond film "From Russia with Love"!

Mikhail Tal Master of Sacrifice
by P.H. Clarke
English notation, paperback £12.95
Reprint of original 1961 publication

Another in the "Master" series with 50 superbly annotated games of the Latvian genius.

One of the most creative GMs ever seen, whose audacious sacrificial play took the chess world by storm over 30 years ago when he defeated Botvinnik for the World Championship.

Aron Nimzowitsch Master of Planning
by Raymond Keene
English notation, paperback £14.95
Reprint of original 1974 publication

The third in the trilogy in this series is a complete contrast to the games collections of Spassky and Tal. I remember in my early chess playing days being persuaded to study "My System" by Nimzowitsch and being profoundly impressed by his theories.

This book is really a biographical account of the famous Russian Grandmaster of the earlier part of this century, exemplifying his theories by reference and analysis of selected games.

Fascinating for readers with plenty of time to immerse themselves in deep concepts - what a contrast to Tal!

The Classical French
by Tim Harding
Figurine notation, paperback £11.95

A new publication specialising in the opening 1 e4 e6 2 d4 d5 3 Nc3 Nf6. It is right up-to-date in its games references, well indexed with variations/sub-variations presented clearly. An essential book for players of this variation.

An Active Repertoire for Black
by Drazen Marovic
Figurine notation, paperback £10.95

This new publication by the Yugoslavian GM is based on the Sicilian (Scheveningen) and King's Indian Defences.

A very good book for club players looking for an active and enforcing response with the Black pieces. The variations included are not fully up-to-date but they provide many creative ideas, particularly for OTB play. Lots of diagrams but variations index is very brief. Players of complete games are listed but without any page number cross-references!?

Positional Chess Handbook
by Israel Gelfer
Figurine notation, paperback £13.95

Another completely new publication which will be a very useful reference book for positional play training sessions. Examples on good and bad bishops, key squares, exchanging and pawn configurations are instructive. Perhaps the examples could have been more extensive?

Winning with the King's Indian
by Eduard Gufeld
Figurine notation, paperback £12.95

Another specialist opening book covering some of the same variations as the new Marovic book mentioned earlier. There is a slightly more extensive variations index with this one. The problem with opening books is that they seem incomplete unless games are recorded until conclusion. Some in this book stop in mid-game and others go on for 80 moves!

Tactical Chess Exchanges
by Gennedy Nesis
Figurine notation, paperback £11.95

The decision of whether or not to exchange pieces and pawns is one critical for all chess players. This book endeavours to provide guidance and uses examples from the play of top GMs, including Karpov and Smyslov who are outstanding exponents of the art of exchanging.

The author is a former ICCF Joint World Champion as well as a leading Soviet theoretician.

Duels of the Mind
The Twelve Best Games of Chess
by Raymond Keene
Figurine notation, Hardback £9.99

A personal selection by the author related to his Thames TV series (regrettably not to be screened in Scotland).

Very nicely presented with brief but interesting notes on the players.

Plenty of diagrams. A good present for the less serious chess player.

CORRESPONDENCE CHESS YEARBOOK

No. 1. April 1991

Published quarterly in figurine notation in Italian and English.
Annual subscription is $90, inclusive of postage, from

Si Editrice S.r.l.,
Via Marsala 45,
40126 Bologna,
Italy.

This new Chess Informator style book of correspondence chess is most welcome and will be invaluable to CC addicts.

The first edition contains 318 games from recent tournaments, many with annotations, and three opening theory articles on the English, Caro Kann and Budapest Gambit. It also contains games from the Dr R Blass Memorial Tourney and the 1990 ICCF Rating List. Cross-tables of recent CC events include the Scottish Centenary Tourney.

The 221-page first edition is nicely produced with plenty of diagrams and an attractive cover.

Questions have been raised about the copyright of games and notes taken from other publications. This is a difficult topic as not only analysts, but also both players and tournament organisers have to be considered. It is very doubtful whether chess gamescores or chess analysis could be subject to copyright, particularly if no players' or analysts' comments have been included.

This is a really worthwhile venture and although perhaps a little over-priced, it should become a valuable publication to all keen postal chess players. Inevitably there are errors, particularly with tournament references and dates, but this surely can be improved for subsequent issues.

Diamond Dust by Jonathan Berry
Published by International Chess Enterprises, Box 19457, Seattle, Washington 98109, USA, Price $9.95

Tournament Book of the event organised by the Canadian Correspondence Chess Association to celebrate its 60th Anniversary. All 105 games annotated in 120 action-packed pages. Won by Erik Bang of Denmark ahead of 3 Canadians (who thereby achieved GM titles) and 6 other GMs. A good buy!

NEW BOOKS

by Alan Borwell

The Blumenfeld Gambit
by J. Przewoznik & M. Pein
Figurine notation, paperback £6.91
hardback £9.91

The variation 1 d4 Nf6 2 c4 e6 3 Nf5 c5 4 d5 b5 has been neglected in tournament play for years mainly because 5 Bg5 has been evaluated as favourable for White. However, the Polish IM author, aided by Malcolm Pein, have produced this book which throws new light on Black's chances in this and other variations of the Blumenfeld Gambit Declined and Accepted.

A well organised book with good games and variation indices. Could be useful to correspondence chess players looking for double-edged unbalanced positions to demonstrate their creative abilities!

Kasparov v Karpov 1990
by Kasparov, Geller, Lein & Chepizhny
Figurine notation, paperback £9.95

The 1990 match as presented "through the eyes of Garry Kasparov" is a fascinating insight into the World Champion's complex personality, his tactics and techniques. This book was written "at the ringside" in New York and Lyons.

Queen Sacrifices
by Iakov Neishtadt
Figurine notation, paperback £ 8.95
hardback £14.95

This is a compilation of 440 Queen sacrifices, including 38 test and answer positions. We will all look for our favourite ones to see if they are included - my favourite was Averbakh v Kotov in the 1953 Candidates Tournament!

Battles of Hastings
by Reg Cload
Figurine notation, paperback £9.95

A very welcome addition to the chess bookshelf. This is a complete record of the famous tournament from 1895 to 1990.

The author provides a most interesting history and the games have been selected by Raymond Keene.

Once again, our memories will take us back to years gone by - I still vividly remember the 120-move Bronstein v Alexander marathon in 1954 with its fascinating Q+Ps ending. Svetozar Gligoric (Yug) played some of his finest games at Hastings in the 1960s. I see also that our correspondence chess GM friend from Germany, Herman Heemsoth, competed in the Premier at Hastings 30 years ago!

In the section "The Way Ahead", the game between Colin McNab and Wojtkiewicz played in the Challengers 1989-90, is featured. This is one of Colin's most inventive creations and is worthy of inclusion.

A nice book, reasonably priced, with interesting black and white photographs.

Creative Chess
by Amatzia Avni,
Figurine notation, paperback £7.95

An interesting new book by an Israeli author. Some fascinating studies which present creative chess as an art form, using many less well-known studies.

I enjoyed looking at this book and will return to it to give it more careful study as it contains some fascinating ideas! A good buy.

The Sicilian Labyrinth Volume 1
by Lyev Polugayevsky
Figurine notation, paperback £12.50

The first of two new volumes covers Opening Experiences and Attack and Defence in the Middlegame. It describes how to avoid opening disasters and to prepare unpleasant surprises for your opponents. It discusses various theoretical arguments and provides a wide range of middlegame attack variations and ideas.

As one of the World's leading exponents of the Sicilian Defence, especially in the more positional Black variations, this book by Lyev Polugayevsky must be an essential for Sicilian Defence practitioners.

The Sicilian Labyrinth Volume 2
by Lyev Polugayevsky
Figurine notation, paperback £12.50

This volume considers Middlegame Strategy and Endgame Silhouettes. Pawn structures, central squares, open lines, piece values and strategic sacrifices are examined.

Both volumes are beautifully presented with excellent diagrams and notes.

Pergamon's Chess for Children
by Martin J. Richardson
Hardback £7.25

A comprehensive beginners book, specially written for the 8-12 age group. Story-book style illustrations, simple text and diagrams. Explains the aims, rules, basic tactics and winning moves.

Useful as an initial teaching aid, which can then be supplemented with other chess manuals once the basics have been taught.

Review by Douglas Bryson GM

The Killer Grob
by Michael Basman
Figurine notation, paperback £8.95

This opening book is great entertainment. From the monster pawn rising out of g4 in the innovative cover illustration to excellent print and diagram clarity. Basman's snappy text leaves the usual opening book format, which reminds you of studying for your "O" grades, in favour of a brief synopsis of typical themes, illustrative games and a test of your chess "grobometer".

Basman begins with his wins against highly graded victims who have been "grobbed". The list is impressive: Nunn, Speelman, Plaskett, Hebden, Kosten, Arkell, etc. If you regard 1 g4 as a joke opening, then various GMs and IMs failed to see the funny side. But how much of Basman's success with 1 g4 and 1 ... g5 has to do with the merit of the opening rather than Basman ability to make good moves in general.

In a theoretical survey of the ideas behind the Grob, Basman identifies what I think is the key reason he wins with this opening. "When you play the Grob, each game is a marvellous adventure, a trip into uncharted territory." Of course, for the opponent, the territory is even more unfamiliar.

Scottish players feature prominently, including a crushing win by Graham Morrison against Basman. Phil Giulian, Craig Pritchett and Chris Morrison are also mentioned. (Both Morrisons are indexed incorrectly as the same person.)

I have to confess to a minus score against the Grob, losing to Martin Mitchell and Tim Wall. However, I did manage a win against the man himself when he was a guest participant in the 1986 Scottish Championship.

Black: Basman

"It is always curious to read as 'history' what one has experienced oneself."

Max Beloff

In July 1989 I was in West Berlin on a course. It seemed an ideal opportunity to meet an East German chess friend, Bernd Geisler. He travelled from his home in Delitzsch, near Leipzig, and we spent my free day together in East Berlin. Although it was the first time we had met in person, we got on so well that it seemed like we had known each other for ages.

It was a beautiful summer's day and we spent our time doing the things tourists do. We strolled along Unter den Linden to the Brandenburg Gate. I nodded at the whitewashed strip of the Wall on the far side of the Gate and asked Bernd, "Do you think it'll ever come down?"

He thought for a while and shrugged. "I don't know. Maybe in 50 years..."

16 weeks later, faced with a rising tide of popular discontent, the GDR government opened the country's borders, effectively stripping the Wall of its raison d'être.

Last July I was back in Berlin; again, business and pleasure. This time, thanks to the incredible events since our first meeting, Bernd was able to invite me to spend a long weekend with his family.

The 3 days whizzed by. Of course, we played some chess and talked a lot of shop, but I brought back many other memories: the Saturday night barbecue (remembered vaguely through a haze of empties); a visit to Leipzig, cradle of the "peaceful revolution" and the first time I'd been in the city since 1974, when things had been very different; above all, the overwhelming warmth and hospitality.

Then there were the people: Bernd's wife, Lilian, and their son, Nick (who was delighted to discover that he had a Scottish "uncle"); members of the local chess mafia: Frank, who drove us through the streets of Berlin at 125 (!) m.p.h. (I kid you not); Gerd, Big Country fan who knows more about rock music than I do; and Wilhelm, former sparring partner of Uhlmann, who wondered "What the hell a Scotsman is doing in Delitzsch!"

Bernd is an effervescent bear of a man, typical of the many unsung heroes of chess. Thanks to his limitless enthusiasm and work with youngsters, the local club - in a town no bigger than, say, Prestwick - boasts a membership of well over 100 - and rising. When he's not playing, Bernd can be found organising tournaments and taking chess classes with local schoolchildren.

Bernd is an uncompromising tactician with many sharp lines in his repertoire, as in the following:

Black: G. Heidemann (GDR)

Blackmar-Diemer Gambit D0

- | | | |
|---|-----|-----|
| 1 | d4 | Mf6 |
| 2 | Nc3 | d5 |
| 3 | e4 | |

The Blackmar-Diemer Gambit is one of those openings which has the power to inspire fanatical loyalty in its followers. It may or may not be sound - probably not - but those who play it generally know it a lot better than their opponents, which accounts for its high success rate in non-IM/GM circles.

- | | | |
|---|------|----|
| 3 | | e6 |
|---|------|----|

No reason not to take the pawn, but Black decides to play safe.

- | | | |
|---|-----|--------|
| 4 | Bg5 | dxe4?! |
|---|-----|--------|

But now lets himself be conned. There's nothing wrong with this move, of course, and it could be that it's his normal line in the French, but he should have taken the hint at move 3 and settled for 4 ... Be7 or 4 ... Bb4 if he wanted to avoid the gambit.

5 f3!

Exclam, not because the move is intrinsically good, but because it gets Bernd onto turf which HE is at home on.

5 exf3
6 Nxf3 Be7
7 Bd3 Nc6

Not really threatening 8 ... Nxd4 since that drops the Q to 9 Nxd4 Qxd4 10 Bb5+. This hoary old trap flashes on-off-on-off over the next few moves. However, even if the move DOES make some sense by bringing pressure to bear on d4, it has the drawback on not being part of a coherent plan. A set-up with ... Nbd7/0-0/c6 or b6 and a timely c5 would give Black a safe enough position.

8 a3 a6

Why?

9 0-0 Nxd4

Off, since 10 Nxd4 Qxd4 is CHECK.

10 Kh1

On.

10 Nxf3
11 Qxf3 Qd4?!

2 pawns up, Black becomes obsessed with simplifying into an ending, instead of trying to complete his development as practically as possible, perhaps looking to consolidate ONE of the bonus pawns.

12 Rad1

On.

12 Qe5
13 Bf4 Qh5
14 Qe3

Of course White isn't interested in any trades.

14 Bd7

With the White Q off the long diagonal, Black is able to develop his QB.

15 Be2 Qc5

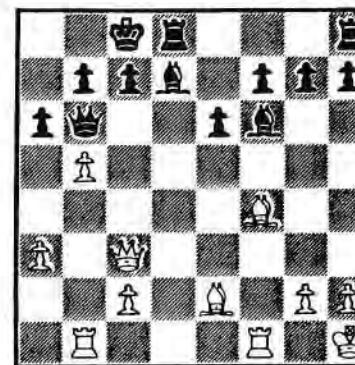

If 15 ... Bc5 16 Qg3 anyway.

16 Qg3 0-0-0
17 b4 Qb6
18 Rb1 Nd5

19 b5!? Nxc3

To deal with the threat of bxa6.

20 Qxc3 Bf6

More or less the crucial position. Despite the meanderings with his Q, Black doesn't appear to be demonstrably lost at this stage. The trouble with most gambits is that, round about move 20, the sacrificer has either worked up a decent initiative or else the defender looks like consolidating. In this case, it looks as though Black can hang in with 20 ... axb5 21 Bxb5 (21 a4 b4; 21 Be3 c5/Qc6) Bxb5 22 Rxb5 (What else?) Qc6 and the flames are dying down. Anybody out there see anything for White?

21 Qb4 Qd4

21 ... axb5 still looks OK for Black. It's his obsession with endgames which finally lands him in the soup.

22 c4! Qc3
23 Qc5 e5?

Or 23 ... Qa5 24 Qa7.

24 bxa6 bxa6
25 Qa7 Bc6?

Gets it over with, but 25 ... Be6 26 Qxa6+ Kd7 27 Rfc1 loses the other royal piece.

26 Bg4+
1 0

A game without too many variations. White just kept (re)arranging his pieces for an attack on the K. Black SHOULD have arranged his for the defence. Barring accidents he would have got the ending he wanted sooner or later. Objectively, the BDG probably isn't quite the ticket, but, as is the case with most gambits or sacrificial lines, trying to hustle an early ending only plays into the opponent's hands.

of mistakes when playing through a game and analysing the wrong position.

In recent columns, I have warned against the dangers of taking on too many correspondence games at once. I have just started the Canadian invitation tournament CCCA-70 (Phil Julian is another participant) which adds 14 new games to 9 others which are 3-4 years old. To ease the administrative burden, I have invested in 2 "Fernschach albums" bought from Chess Suppliers (Scotland), Hope Street, Glasgow. Plastic pieces are inserted into slots in stiff cardboard boards which preserve the current position in every game - each album holds up to twelve games. Thus you should overcome the danger Catering for the chess market in Scotland is probably not the most lucrative of business activities. I would have thought it obvious that chessplayers in Scotland would support Chess Suppliers as opposed to firms south of the border if Chess Suppliers can match prices or speed of service of any competing English firms. I was surprised to learn that some players, including at least one SCCA official, prefer to buy their Informators directly from one of the southern firms because they believe that they will get quicker delivery. (Not a smart move financially since there is a charge for postage, whereas CS offer a post-free service.) I have evidence they are mistaken.

In the final leg of his IM trail, Andrew Muir was playing the English IM Mark Hebden in Ostend in September last year. Andrew successfully "TN'd" Hebden with information he had gleaned from Informator 49 which he had purchased in Chess Suppliers a few days before - Hebden did not have a copy of the book.

In his younger over-the-board days, Tommy Craig was an exponent of the very sharp Schliemann Defence to the Lopez. Nowadays, the Petroff is his main answer to e4 (see also SCCA Magazine No. 33). Notes by Tom.

5 d4 d5

I would recommend 5 ... Be7 as a good CC variation due to the manoeuvring "non-contact" nature of the positions that arise. Black has no pawn weaknesses and quickly develops his pieces. Most opponents will try to emulate Ljubojevic-Smyslov, Rest of World v USSR 1984, which continued 6 Bd3 Nf6 7 0-0 0-0 8 Re1 Bg4 9 Nbd2 c5 10 h3 Bh5 11 Nf1 Nc6 12 Ng3 with a small but definite advantage to White. However, 9 ... Re8 followed by Nbd7 and Bf8 seems solid enough to thwart the aggression that Ljubojevic was able to conjure up in that game.

6 Bd3 Be7

I decided to avoid the fashionable 6 ... Bd6 because it was receiving too much attention in articles and Grandmaster play. Several enterprising variations for Black were being severely tested by a constant wave of improvements for White.

10 Qb3 0-0

10 ... Qd6?! enjoyed some early successes and despite several recent crushing White victories at Grandmaster level, it continues to be a popular choice.

11 Nbd2 Kh8

Botvinnik's suggestion 11 ... Nc5? 12 Qa4 Nc6 13 Bb5 Rf6 14 Bxc6 Rxc6 15 Ne5 Ra6= has, as far as I am aware, never been tried, which is strange considering that it appears in all the main reference books.

12 h3

12 Qxb7!? Rf6 13 Qb3 Rg6 14 Bb5!? (intending 15 Bxc6 Rxc6 16 Ne5) Nxd2 15 Nxd2 Bd6! 16 g3! Ne7 with a slight plus to White. This was the conclusion reached the last time this variation was considered by Informator 36/388.

12 Bh5

13 Qxb7 Rf6

14 Qb3 Bd6!?

This move was suggested by one of the two most quoted purveyors of the untried suggestion, Keres, but if you intend playing this move it would be worthwhile considering how Black should continue after 15 Nf1!?

15 Be2 Rb8!?

15 ... Rg6 transposes into the often mentioned, never challenged O'Kelly main line 16 Ne5 Nxe5 17 Bxh5 Rxg2+ 18 Kxg2 Qg5+ 19 Kf1 Qh4 20 Nxe4 Qxh3+ 21 Kg1 dxе4 22 dxе5 Bxe5 23 f4 Qg3+=. I did not believe that this variation was correct or that it was Black's best try.

16 Qa4!

16 Qd1 Rg6 17 Nxe4 fxе4 18 Ne5 Nxe5 19 Bxh5 Nd3 20 Bxg6 Qf6 actually transposes to a previously played game - Steig v Mende, corres 1976. Although I have no idea how that game continued, I will reveal that it is a dangerous game for White to follow blindly!

16 Rg6!?

17 Nxe4 fxе4

18 Ng5!?

This was only a sideline of my main analysis. I had been concentrating on the position after 18 Ne5 Nxe5 19 Bxh5 Nd3!?

18 Rxg5

19 Bxg5 Qxg5

20 Bxh5 Rf8!

And here ended my side analysis, which I had scribbled down at move 15. I had incorrectly evaluated this position as "-+!?"

21 Rf1!

If 21 Qxc6? Qf6 or even Qf4.

21 Ne7

23 h5

24 Bd7 c6

24 ... Nf5 25 Qe2 defending the important second rank. After the text move, White has a difficult decision to make. Black has three potentially dangerous threats: Rd8 winning back some of the sacrificed material; h4 followed by Qf4; e3 weakening the g3 square.

28 Bh3 g5

28 ... Nf5 29 Qe2.

29 c4?

In a very difficult position, after some excellent defensive play, White collapses quickly. Chris was in danger of exceeding the time limit for the second time and therefore losing the game by time default.

White's threat was simply to win the queen by 22 Bb6, and 21 ... bxa3 would lose to 22 Bxc3. But a more aggressive alternative is 21 ... Rfb8, planning to follow with ... Bc6 and ... Bxa4.

- 22 Rf4 Rac8
 23 Rg4 Kh8?

The king is no safer here. If 23 ... f5 24 exf6 Bxd4 25 Qxd4 is very good for White but the immediate 23 ... Bxd4 looks best, hoping for 24 Qxh6? f5, and the tables are turned.

WORLD SEMI-FINAL

(by Philip Julian)

In 1985, I was fortunate to be selected as Scotland's first nominee for the World Semi-Finals. At this time the ICCF grading list was very much in its infancy and so this was definitely a venture into the unknown. Of the players with ratings, only two were below me and one of them was a FIDE Master who seemed to be playing chess on a semi-professional basis. The top two players would qualify for the World 3/4 Final, whereas 10½/14 would be an IM norm and 8½/14 would qualify for another World Semi.

I decided to play aggressively with white and solidly with black and, at the start, this approach seemed to work very well. I began with a mixture of wins and draws. One of my victories was against K. Petrzekla in the following game. I published the opening in an article I wrote on the Milner-Barry Gambit, but I feel the finish is even more interesting.

White resigned because my Queen rushes over to the defence.

My run of success came to an abrupt end with a disaster against J. Palsson (Iceland). The first 24 moves of a Benko Gambit had concentrated on my trying to consolidate my extra pawn whilst my opponent pressurised me.

Black: J. Palsson

White: P. Giulian

Here I decided on 25 Nxe5 and gave the conditional "if Bxe5 26 Bd2" (?) My opponent replied with Bxh2+ winning easily.

Soon after the finish of this game, it was apparent that qualifying and/or scoring an IM norm were beyond me.

However, I seemed certain to reach at least 8½ when A.N. Isaev (USSR) blundered against me. The win for me was very difficult and so I agreed a draw in order to take no chances. This was definitely a mistake on my part because two of my remaining games went badly for me and I ended up needing to draw with D.G. Liubomirov to reach 8½ and therefore qualify for another Semi-Final.

THEORY CORNER

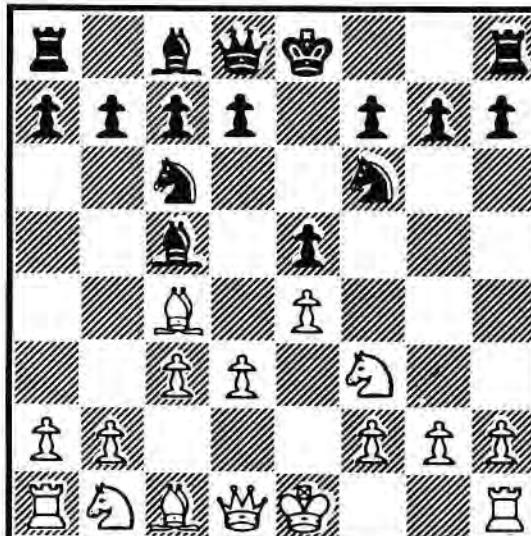

(by Philip Julian)

MODERN BISHOP'S GAME (C54)

Recently it was suggested that our Magazine should include a small theoretical article on opening developments in correspondence chess. Assuming that it is successful, we hope to make this a regular feature. It is not our intention to provide some kind of comprehensive survey: this can be obtained from opening books. Nor is it our intention to try to keep abreast of the latest opening developments in over-the-board chess. Instead we will concentrate on ideas and novelties which occur in correspondence chess games. To this end, I would be grateful to receive any contributions from members. I fully realise that players do not wish to give away any "secrets" but surely there must be ideas which you can share with the rest of the world.

In this first article, I would like to look at the Modern Bishop's Game (1 e4 e5 2 Nf3 Nc6 3 Bc4 Nf6 4 d3 Bc5 5 c3). This is quite a common opening used by players who, either don't like, or wish to avoid, the complexities of the main line Ruy Lopez.

From the diagram, I feel Black has two routes to full equality:

Line 1

5 ... a6, a move designed to allow a safe and immediate retreat for the bishop and making a white queenside pawn expansion less effective. White is now forced to continue in quieter vein. 6 0-0 Ba7 7 Nbd2 0-0 8 Bb3 d5!?

This move has been under a cloud since a game in 1986 between Dolmatov and Salov. Now White has two possible continuations:

Line 1A

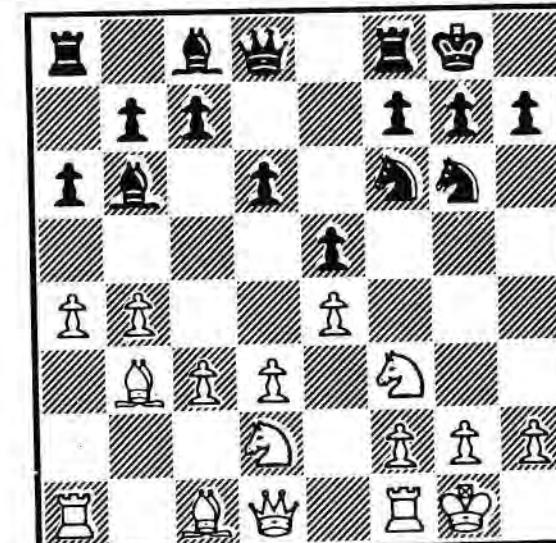

9 Rel dxe4! (a big improvement on the Dolmatov-Salov game) 10 dxe4 Qe7 11 Nf1 Rd8 12 Qe2 Be6 13 Ng3 Bxb3 14 axb3 Qe6 and Black has fully equalised (P. Julian-P. Millican, British Championship 1989-90).

Line 1B

9 Qc2 Bg4 10 Rel dxe4 11 dxe4 Qe7 12 h3 Bh5 13 Nh2 Na5 14 Ndf1 Bxb3 with equality (Gipslis-Kajdanov, Groningen Open).

Line 2

5 ... d6 6 b4 Bb6 7 a4 a6 8 Nbd2 0-0 9 0-0 Ne7 10 Bb3 Ng6

The most usual continuation is:

Line 2A

11 Nc4 Ba7 12 Be3 Be6 13 Bxa7 Rxa7 14 Re1 Ra8 15 Ra2 h6
16 Rd2 Re8 17 Ne3 d5 with equality. Because of this I decided on a different approach in the Canadian Fedor Bohatirchuk Memorial (started 1990); I played 11 Re1 but achieved nothing but trouble after :

Line 2B

11 Re1 Be6 12 d4 Bxb3 13 Qxb3 Re8 14 Bb2 Qd7 15 c4 exd4
16 Nxd4 Qg4 (P. Giulian - S. Chouinard)

Line 2C

11 Re1 Re8 12 Nc4 Ba7 13 Be3 Be6 14 Bxa7 Rxa7 15 Ng5 Bxc4
16 Bxc4 Re7 17 d4 h6 (P. Giulian - W.H. Boom).

CCCA - 70

(by Philip Giulian)

In honour of 70 years of existence, the Canadian Correspondence Chess Association has organised a Grandmaster Tournament. Douglas Bryson and I are Scotland's representatives. Apart from Douglas (2565), four other Grandmasters are playing: V-M Anton (Germany) 2610, F. Brglez (Yugoslavia) 2365, P. Lehikoinen (Finland) 2470 and G Van Perlo (Netherlands) 2490. Six of the others are International Masters - K. Dehmelt (USA) 2460, A Idema (Netherlands) 2565, D MacLeod (Canada) 2490, Z Sarosy (Canada) 2420, B Sørensen (Denmark) 2535 and J Wright (Canada) 2485. Completing the field is P Ma (Australia) 2420, H Salokangas (Finland) 2460 and A Woldmo (Canada) 2300. The tournament is Category IX, which makes the Grandmaster norm 10/14 and the International Master norm 7/14.

For Douglas, this is another chance to show his ability in a strong event, but for me this is the strongest tournament I've played in. Only A. Woldmo is rated lower and so I'm sure I'll be regarded as one of the rabbits. This is the first time I've played a Grandmaster and I'm very much looking forward to this new experience. Play began on 1st May.

ICCF INDIVIDUAL

TOURNAMENTS

(by Alan Borwell)

Members of the Scottish Correspondence Chess Association are eligible to compete in ICCF promotion tournaments, which are structured to encourage participation by C.C. players of all standards. You can choose between World or European-only sections ranging upwards from third class, second class to first class. Higher Class and Master Class events require evidence of C.C. playing strength with entries.

Tournaments are organised in 7 or 15 player sections, except World III Class which is 7-player only. They begin as soon (in theory) as entries have been received from seven different countries. Sometimes, in practice, there are two players from the same country, particularly from USSR or DDR. After you have selected a Class, you need to win a Section to be promoted and to score more than one-third of the points to avoid relegation!

The entry fee of £3.50 (for 7-player groups) or £4.50 (for 15-player groups) should be made payable to BPCF and sent to Mr. Michael Anderson, 3 Winterfield Gardens, Duns, Berwickshire, TD11 3EZ.

ICCF THEMATIC TOURNAMENTS

Tournaments for sections of 5-7 players, two games against each opponent. The top two players qualify for each final. The entry fee is £3.50 per group (payable to BPCF) to be sent to: Mr. A.M. Anderson, 3 Winterfield Gardens, Duns, Berwickshire, TD11 3EZ.

INTERNATIONAL REPORT

(by Philip Giulian)

The Ladies Section of our 10th Anniversary Magazine International Tournament is at last complete and play began on 1st June 1991. This is the first ever Ladies event organised by a national federation and it has proved more difficult than we first envisaged. In the end, we have managed to put together a very good tournament. Three of the players, Eva Mozna-Hojdarova (Czechoslovakia), Raisa Newednitschaja (USSR) and Debbie Cooper (Wales) are rated amongst the top twelve lady players in the world. Christine Rosenfield is the USA Number One and, along with the Yugoslavs Snezana Djuric and Maja Ljubicic, is amongst the world top twentyfive players. Several of the others have chances of winning and even the lowest-graded player, Tunde Hargitay (Hungary), is an International Master. Two players are ungraded but they are also strong. Carmelita Henri is Australia's top lady and has already scored an IM norm. Miklosne Horvath played for Hungary in the Olympiad Final, scoring 50%.

Obviously the two Scots will have some tough opposition. Elaine Hartford is the more experienced at correspondence chess and is a member of our Ladies Olympiad team. However, with a rating of "only" 1875, she will have to be in top form to do well. My wife Rosie's correspondence chess seems very similar to her over-the-board play. She appears capable of beating or losing to anybody. Her performance may well depend on the amount of time she can devote to her games but, with two very young children this may well be limited.

So, as I have said, we did manage to put together a very good tournament, but it was a pity that neither England nor Germany was able to nominate a player - our event would have been even stronger if they had!

I have finished play in my World Semi-Final after 5½ years!? My score of 8½/14 secures my entry for another try.

Scotland has made the following selections for forthcoming ICCF events:

Ladies Olympiad: 1. Mary Inglis 2. Rosie Julian
3. Alison Coull 4. Elaine Hartford

World Semi-Final: Colin McNab

OLYMPIAD REPORT

(by Philip Julian)

It remains unclear how many teams will qualify from our section, but I remain optimistic that third place will be good enough. That is the position still occupied by Scotland with only seven games left. Most of these are favourable and we will probably finish with a slightly higher percentage than at present. It would take a tremendous finish for Portugal to catch us and it looks likely that our biggest challenge will come from Argentina, who have finished less than half of their games. At the moment, Scotland v Argentina is tied 2:2 but I expect us to win the match. Despite this, news from Argentina is that they are doing well in their remaining games and expect to overtake us. Time will tell!

READERS LETTER from Allan Hislop

"I should like to bring to your attention two rules in the Scottish CCA which I feel should be considered for action by the Executive. The first is the rule that when an opponent oversteps the time control for the first time. Play proceeds with the second time control for the offending player starting at zero but this is unfair to the other player. The offending player can be many days over the time whilst his opponent processes his claim etc.

Will the Executive consider changing the rule and taking the lead by having any excess time at the first time control, carried over to the next control period, an example being that if an offender was 20 days over time at a control, he would have only 10 days to make his next 10 moves.

We would have to abide by ICCF in their competitions, but by applying the change to Scottish events it would set a sensible and popular precedent. [Editor - I agree 100% with Allan's proposal, In one of the Olympiad games I took over from Alan Norris, the opponent from Finland exceeded the time limit and used 68 days to consider the position, If Allan's proposal had applied, Scotland would have scored one more point!]

The second rule is that applying to conditional moves. I should like it to be underlined in all Scottish CCA events that conditional moves need not be accepted by a player if he so wishes. If subsequently he plays the suggested line then that is quite acceptable.

I understand that the whole business of conditional moves comes before the ICCF executive later this year and opinions are divided. I personally welcome "if" moves for most of the time but occasionally when under pressure for whatever reason I have had to ignore a conditional continuation. It has not happened very often but it's nice to know under the rules that one can make 'one' move at a time and this is a right all chess players have. At the ICCF meeting, I hope we will vote against any move to force a player to accept, at the time, conditional moves. [Editor - Again, I agree with Allan's view. A player can try to avoid an inevitable etl by proposing a string of conditional moves, often putting greater pressure on an opponent who would prefer to take time to consider them 'one by one'.] [Editor - Could I have views from other members please?]

This excellent monthly magazine contains official results as well as information about ICCF events. Although it is predominantly published in German, there are plans in 1991 to include more news and articles in English and other languages. Fernschach has been given a fresh image and contains many interesting games which are well annotated. It is indispensable for the keen international CC player and can be obtained through Chess Suppliers (Scotland).
